

I am tired of people trying to idiot proof the planet and giving out personal information. If I want to invest my money then that is my decision and I don't need to be protected. People give away too much of their private and personal information as it is and I think what we need more of is PRIVACY.
Chris Connor